What is LEADERSHIP?

Wikipedia Says:

Leadership is both a research area and a practical skill encompassing the ability of an individual or organization to "lead" or guide other individuals, teams, or entire organizations. US academic environments define leadership as "a process of social influence in which a person can enlist the aid and support of others in the accomplishment of a common task". [1][2]

Studies of leadership have produced theories involving traits, situational interaction, function, behavior, power, vision and values, charisma, and intelligence, among others. [2]

Leadership and Perception

• Perception of Self (internal)
  – Write your professional autobiography
    • Your background
    • Your values
    • Your accomplishments to date
    • Your goals
  – Keep a personal journal making special note your changing perception of self
• The Institute for Ethical Leadership was founded in 1998 to raise awareness of the importance of ethical leadership and to provide opportunities for leaders to come together to discuss and learn how to apply high standards of ethical practice in their work. Through meetings, conferences and seminars the Institute has brought an ethical focus on key issues ranging from the environment to health, business and education. It is now working to bring a stronger focus on teaching and learning through the creation of a new discipline of ethical leadership.

Leadership and Perception

• Perception by Others (external)
  – Your frontstage and backstage behaviors
  – Your appearance
  – Your position (position power)

• Perception of Reality
  – Respect of others
  – Open to learning
  – Clarify by exchanging perceptions
Leadership and Risk

• Uncertainty is a given...embrace it!
• Nothing ventured...nothing gained
• Situational as well as personal risk
• Risk can be better tolerated with
  – Commitment to personal and professional values
  – Willingness to sacrifice for the cause
  – Encouragement to facilitate
  – Realization of the Human Condition
Leadership and Creativity

• Be flexible and adaptable
• Embrace Risk
• Creativity can be like sculpting
  – Knocking off the excess
  – Shaping
  – Accentuating
• Not only doing what one likes to do, but doing what one does not like to do
• Overcoming self-imposed barriers
Leadership and Communication

• Both written and oral
• Formal as well as informal
• Language usage
• Communication is not ‘debating’
• Encourage feedback
• Always two-way
  – Practice active listening
Other Leadership Thoughts

• Decision making (or when not to make a decision)
• Everyone has varied leadership traits
• Leadership is action as well as inaction
• Confrontation is part of leadership
• Complexity and uncertainty are constant challenges
• If leadership happened or occurred, how would you know if it did happen?
The plain rule is to do nothing in the dark to be a party to nothing underhanded or mysterious, and never to put his foot where he cannot see the ground.

Charles Dickens
Ethics (via Latin ethica from the Ancient Greek ἠθική [φιλοσοφία] "moral philosophy", from the adjective of ἔθος ethos "custom, habit"), a major branch of philosophy, is the study of values and customs of a person or group. It covers the analysis and employment of concepts such as right and wrong, good and evil, and responsibility. It is divided into three primary areas: meta-ethics (the study of the concept of ethics), normative ethics (the study of how to determine ethical values), and applied ethics (the study of the use of ethical values).

I know no possible way of teaching how to think by the use of formulas or by concise and abrupt shortcuts. I am convinced that anyone who pretends to make this possible is devoid of thought, and is committed to a peculiar doctrine that makes thinking unnecessary.

(Belth, 1977, p.xx)
Hobbes - Social Contract Theory

views the natural state of things as an ongoing desire and struggle for power and status...influence (shared values)

...control. This ‘natural state of things’ amounts to chaos where all are equal, physically and mentally.
FAA ETHICAL BEHAVIOR

But humans are also rational, sometimes logical, and thus will more than likely create a ‘social contract’ (ETHICS) that takes the brutal edge off of the ‘natural state of things.’

FAA ETHICAL BEHAVIOR

National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators Statement of Ethical Principles

Advocate for students

• Remain aware of issues affecting students and continually advocate for their interests at the institutional, state and federal levels.

• Support federal, state and institutional efforts to encourage students, as early as the elementary grades, to aspire to and plan for education beyond high school.
Manifest the highest level of integrity

- Commit to the highest level of ethical behavior and refrain from conflict of interest or the perception thereof.
- Deal with others honestly and fairly, abiding by our commitments and always acting in a manner that merits the trust and confidence others have placed in us.
- Protect the privacy of individual student financial records.
- Promote the free expression of ideas and opinions, and foster respect for diverse viewpoints within the profession.

National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators Statement of Ethical Principles

Support student access and success

- Commit to removing financial barriers for those who want to pursue postsecondary learning and support each student admitted to our institution.
- Without charge, assist students in applying for financial aid funds.
- Provide services and apply principles that do not discriminate on the basis of race, gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation, religion, disability, age, or economic status.
- Understand the need for financial education and commit to educate students and families on how to responsibly manage expenses and debt.

VASFAA Leadership April 23, 2017
Dr. Barry W. Simmons Sr.
Comply with federal and state laws

• Adhere to all applicable laws and regulations governing federal, state, and institutional financial aid programs.

• Actively participate in ongoing professional development and continuing education programs to ensure ample understanding of statutes, regulations, and best practices governing the financial aid programs.

• Encourage colleagues to participate in the financial aid professional associations available to them at the state, regional, or national level and offer assistance to other aid professionals as needed.
Strive for transparency and clarity

- Provide our students and parents with the information they need to make good decisions about attending and paying for college.
- Educate students and families through quality information that is consumer-tested when possible. This includes (but is not limited to) transparency and full disclosure on award notices.
- Ensure equity by applying all need-analysis formulas consistently across the institution's full population of student financial aid applicants.
- Inform institutions, students, and parents of any changes in financial aid programs that could affect their student aid eligibility.

Protect the privacy of financial aid applicants

- Ensure that student and parent private information provided to the financial aid office by financial aid applicants is protected in accordance with all state and federal statutes and regulations, including FERPA and the Higher Education Act, Section 483(a)(3)(E) (20 U.S.C. 1090).
- Protect the information on the FAFSA from inappropriate use by ensuring that this information is only used for the application, award, and administration of aid awarded under Title IV of the Higher Education Act, state aid, or aid awarded by eligible institutions.
LEADERSHIP AND FAA ETHICAL BEHAVIOR

Steps to Consider

• Be Transparent
• Develop a Culture of Accountability and Transparency
• Adopt a Statement of Values and Code of Ethics
• Adopt a Conflict of Interest Policy
• Conduct Independent Financial Reviews
• Establish and Support a Whistleblower Policy
• Remain Current with the Law
• Maintain Professional Autobiography
• Maintain Personal Journal

Discussion

What are the ethical dimensions of:

• Pursuing rigorous optional verification efforts to identify isolated anecdotal eligibility issues that have no statistical significance?

• Need blind vs. need aware admissions?

• Encouraging a student to attend your institution at great loan expense when you know they have better financial options at other institutions?

What are the ethical dimensions of:

• Encouraging borrowing from for-profit and quasi for-profit organizations rather than from non-profit organizations?

• Imposing limitations on the use of professional judgment because of audit fears/concerns?

• Imposing limitations on the use of professional judgment because of funding concerns?
What are the ethical dimensions of:

- Establishing an unrealistically low cost of attendance so you can tout you meet 100% or a high percentage of need?
- Offering freshmen recruiting scholarships for the freshman year only while students and their families are being asked for a four-year commitment?
- Pursuing optional verification efforts when the final outcome won’t change student eligibility?
What are the ethical dimensions of:

• Hedging on dealing with a parent/student because they’ve been demanding and overbearing or just difficult with whom to work.
• Targeting aid programs?
• Monitoring departmental awarding of need based named scholarships to students with no need?
• Counseling a student without listening to what the student has to say?
FAA ETHICAL BEHAVIOR

What are the ethical dimensions of:

• Counseling a student without searching for options?
• Assuming low-income families are truly economically prepared, even when need is met?
• A fellow worker comes to you and tells you Nancy/Sammy doesn’t “Deserve” and aid.
• Encouraging uncertified loan products?
FAA ETHICAL BEHAVIOR

What are the ethical dimensions of:

Offering no need based aid – funding merit only?

Granting independent status or extraordinary consideration based on pressure from colleagues/supervisors?
